BLAME FOR WRECK NOT FIXED

Responsibility for the wreck at Tipton Ford a week ago, caused by the collision of a Missouri & North Arkansas motor car with the first section of passenger train No. 30 on the Kansas City Southern, running as a freight, probably never will be fixed," said A. J. Adams, Inspector for the Interstate Commerce Commission.

"One or two things caused the collision," said Inspector Adams, "and no direct testimony ever will be brought out to prove whether Operator Bradley in Joplin gave the moving order to the crew of the motor car, in which event the three men disregarded it, or whether Operator Bradley did not give them the order, allowing them to speed to their doom unaware of its proximity.

"Nothing was brought out at the hearing which showed that the operator did not deliver the order, which he affirms he did, and as the crew of the motor car persisted, their story never will be told.

"No responsibility whatever can be claimed to the crew of the passenger train for the accident, as they were carrying out their portion of the "meat" order which he affirms he did, and as the crew of the motor car persisted, their story never will be told.
